

CENTENNIAL OBSERVED BY CHURCH AT CULPEPER

Services Conducted Last Evening by Masonic Lodge as Part of Week's Celebration.

CULPEPER, Va., September 2.—Interest in Culpeper has centered this week in the exercises incident to the centennial anniversary of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church and in the meeting of the Piedmont convocation, which convened in that church on Tuesday evening and adjourned Thursday.

On Sunday the historic old church was crowded to hear a historical sermon by the Bishop of Virginia, Rt. Rev. William Cabell Brown, and more than half of this congregation was Speakers during the two days of the convocation were Mr. Woodward, formerly missionary to China, and Mr. Harari, a native of Beyrout, in Asia, who now has a charge in this country. The sermon on Wednesday morning was delivered by Mr. Hall of St. Paul's, Alexandria, and on Wednesday evening Rev. Berryman Green

Thursday morning all visiting ministers were taken by autos to the colonial church of "Little Fork."

early in the seventeen hundreds, and was preserved during the civil war by being buried in a cornfield near the church.

Last evening, by special invitation, from the rector, the Masonic lodge here had charge in the services, and the sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Lanier of Fredericksburg.
